Analyst: Hamza Syed, hamza.syed@coleg.gov, 303-866-4976

Date: May 20, 2026

---

Summary Information

Overview. The measure moves the Independent Congressional Redistricting Commission from the state constitution to the Colorado Revised Statutes.

Types of impacts. The measure is projected to affect the following areas:

- Minimal State Workload

Disclaimer. This initial fiscal impact statement has been prepared for an initiative approved for petition circulation by the Secretary of State. If the initiative is placed on the ballot, Legislative Council Staff may revise this estimate for the ballot information booklet (Blue Book) if new information becomes available. Any appropriations required to implement this measure will be addressed through the annual or supplemental budget process if this measure is approved by voters.

Summary of Measure

The measure repeals the Independent Congressional Redistricting Commission from the state constitution, and reenacts it in the Colorado Revised Statutes. The reenacted commission has the same role, process, and duties as the current commission. However, the measure moves the final review of new congressional district maps from the Colorado Supreme Court to the Denver District Court.

State Expenditures

The Denver District Court in the Judicial Department will have a minimal increase in workload in redistricting years to review maps created by the commission. At the same time, the Colorado Supreme Court will have a minimal decrease in workload, as the Supreme Court no longer will have final review of maps.

Effective Date

If approved by voters at the 2026 general election, and contingent upon passage of a separate ballot measure creating new congressional district maps for use at the 2028 and 2030 elections, this measure takes effect upon proclamation of the Governor, no later than 30 days after the official canvass of the vote is completed.
