CONCERNING THE CREATION OF THE LAW ENFORCEMENT, PUBLIC SAFETY, AND CRIMINAL JUSTICE INFORMATION SHARING GRANT PROGRAM, AND, IN CONNECTION THEREWITH, MAKING AN APPROPRIATION.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Colorado:

SECTION 1. Legislative declaration. (1) The general assembly hereby finds and declares that:

(a) Colorado's law enforcement personnel operate at an information disadvantage that diminishes their safety and increases the likelihood that community members will be mistakenly engaged;

(b) Law enforcement personnel interact daily with a wide variety of people, from law-abiding citizens to frequent offenders to individuals suffering from mental health challenges, sometimes without complete or adequate information to determine who presents a risk, who does not present a risk, and who needs mental health services;

(c) Law enforcement's information disadvantage can erode public trust when incomplete information leads to inappropriate policing actions. For example, a lack of information can result in an unnecessarily large volume of contacts during an investigation. In addition, a lack of information can lead to misinformation that spawns inaccurate "be on the lookout" notices.

(d) This information disadvantage presents issues for law enforcement personnel who are entrusted to uphold public safety while protecting the individual liberties of all people and providing innovative co-responder service models to individuals with mental health challenges;

(e) A major contributing factor to this lack of information is that each law enforcement agency often has its own independent records-management systems and cannot efficiently and digitally share information between agencies;

(f) In an effort to address this information disparity, more than forty-five of Colorado's largest and busiest law enforcement agencies came together to create the Colorado information sharing consortium (CISC) in 2014 through an intergovernmental agreement;

(g) The CISC acts as a facilitator between Colorado law enforcement agencies, providing a means for secure and efficient data sharing. The CISC is governed by a member-elected board of directors, including sheriffs and police chiefs, and has signed up sixty-eight of the three hundred and thirty-three agencies that can employ certified peace officers in Colorado.

(h) Information-sharing systems are most effective when they are widely used by state and local law enforcement agencies across the state, creating a robust platform for sharing needed data and information. The more local law enforcement agencies that participate in CISC, the greater the benefit to all of its members and to the public.

(2) Therefore, the general assembly declares that it is necessary to create a grant program to provide rural and cash-strapped local law enforcement agencies with one-time grants to allow them join the CISC information-sharing system.

SECTION 2. In Colorado Revised Statutes, add 24-33.5-1617 as follows:
