NOTE: This bill was not enacted into law; therefore, the impacts identified in this analysis do not take effect.

Summary of Legislation

The bill prohibits state funding for any institution of higher education that engages in the purchase or trafficking of aborted human body parts. Each institution of higher education must submit a verified report to the Joint Budget Committee (JBC) by December 1 each year that states whether the institution has directly or indirectly purchased or trafficked aborted human body parts. If a report states that the institution did engage in the purchase or trafficking of aborted human body parts, the General Assembly may not appropriate any money to that institution for the following fiscal year.

Background

Current law. State and federal law prohibit the acquisition, receipt, or other transfer of human fetal tissue for valuable consideration if the transfer affects interstate or intrastate commerce. State law also prohibits the transfer of fetal tissue for research or for transplant purposes by a physician or institution that performs induced terminations of pregnancy.

State appropriations to institutions of higher education. In the FY 2016-17 Appropriations Act (the Long Bill), the governing boards of state institutions of higher education were appropriated a total of $672.5 million, excluding tuition and fees. This appropriation was allocated to each institution as shown in Table 1 below.

State Expenditures

The bill decreases state General Fund expenditures beginning in FY 2017-18 for any state institution of higher education that affirms to the JBC that the institution directly or indirectly purchased or trafficked aborted human body parts in the previous fiscal year. This fiscal note assumes that all institutions of higher education will comply with applicable federal and state laws. As such, no change in appropriations is anticipated.

Effective Date

The bill was postponed indefinitely by the House State, Veterans, and Military Affairs Committee on February 15, 2017.
