Summary of Legislation

This bill continues the Community Association Management Practice Act in the Division of Real Estate in the Department of Regulatory Agencies (DORA) — which is scheduled to repeal July 1, 2018 — for 5 years through September 1, 2023.

The bill also implements certain recommendations from DORA's sunset review. These recommendations include:

- amend definitions so that administrative and support staff are not required to be licensed;
- modify the supervision requirements for the apprentice license;
- remove references to private, professional credentials and allow the director of the Division of Real Estate to approve credential, examination, and education requirements by rule; and
- enhance the due process protections of cease and desist orders issued by the director.

Continuing Program Impacts

Based on its FY 2016-17 budget, DORA is expected to have about $530,000 in revenue and $280,000 and 3.2 FTE in expenditures to license Community Association Managers. If this bill is enacted, current revenue and expenditures will continue for the program starting in FY 2019-20. If this bill is not enacted, the program will end on July 1, 2019, following a wind-down period, and state revenue and expenditures will decrease starting in FY 2019-20 by the amounts shown in Table 1. The changes to the program that drive additional workload are discussed in the State Expenditure section below.

State Expenditures

In FY 2018-19, the Division of Real Estate will have a minimal workload impact to promulgate rules to implement the changes under the bill. This work expected to occur during the division's regular rulemaking schedule. No change in appropriations is required.

To the extent the judicial review process for cease and desist orders is utilized, workload will also minimally increase for courts in the Judicial Department. This potential workload increase is expected to be minimal and no change in appropriations is required.

Effective Date

The bill was postponed indefinitely by the Senate Finance Committee on April 10, 2018.
