Summary of Legislation

The bill directs the Public Utilities Commission (PUC) in the Department of Regulatory Agencies (DORA) to evaluate the viability of the wholesale, opt-out model of community choice energy (CCE) in Colorado. CCE is defined as a mechanism that allows cities, counties, or groups of cities and counties to combine their purchasing power and choose alternative electricity suppliers, while the incumbent investor-owned utility continues to own and operate the transmission and distribution system.

The PUC is directed to open an investigatory proceeding by January 15, 2022, to consider the regulatory and legal implications of CCE legislation and provide recommendations to the General Assembly. In the proceeding, the PUC must accept testimony and documentation from a broad range of stakeholders, as specified in the bill. Among other topics outlined in the bill, the questions explored in the docket may include:

- whether the PUC requires additional statutory authority to conduct a rule-making concerning the creation of a CCE authority in Colorado;
- the appropriate scope of regulatory oversight of CCE operations;
- which aspects of investor-owned electric utility regulation by the PUC should apply to CCE authorities as well;
- how to establish reasonable exit fees; and
- how CCE may impact distributed energy resources, investments in beneficial electrification, jobs in the electricity sector, low income households, and clean energy goals.

The PUC must submit a final report summarizing its findings and recommendations from the investigatory docket to the energy committees of the General Assembly by December 15, 2022.

State Expenditures

The bill increases state cash fund expenditures in the PUC by $61,733 and 0.5 FTE in FY 2021-22 and $54,796 in FY 2022-23. These expenditures are shown in Table 2 and described below.

Public Utilities Commission. The PUC will require an additional staff member to complete the investigatory proceeding, which includes advising and assisting the PUC through the process and developing the report and recommendations for the General Assembly. This fiscal note assumes that a Rate and Financial Analyst will be hired by December 1, 2021, to support the investigatory docket, which must be opened by January 15, 2022, with the final report due on December 15, 2022.

Centrally appropriated costs. Pursuant to a Joint Budget Committee policy, certain costs associated with this bill are addressed through the annual budget process and centrally appropriated in the Long Bill or supplemental appropriations bills, rather than in this bill. These costs, which include employee insurance and supplemental employee retirement payments, are estimated to be $13,342 in FY 2021-22 and $12,740 in FY 2022-23.

Effective Date

The bill was signed into law by the Governor and took effect on June 25, 2021.

State Appropriations

For FY 2021-22, the bill requires an appropriation of $48,391 to the Department of Regulatory Agencies and 0.5 FTE. House Bill 21-1269 includes a General Fund appropriation of this amount, but the appropriation was adjusted in Senate Bill 21-272, which eliminated the General Fund appropriation and changed it to an appropriation of the same amount from the Fixed Utility Fund.
