Claims are made that if the child is not allowed to change their name and gender, they will commit suicide. Actually, sex transitions are 19 times more likely to lead to adult suicide compared to equivalent non-transitioning adults as shown by this Swedish scientific study that you can see right now by GOING TO THIS QR-CODE -- see the RESULTS section.

Detransitioner Soren Aldaco's lawsuit against her former therapist reached the Texas Supreme Court last week as she seeks justice after undergoing a transition at her therapist's recommendation.

A New York jury on Jan 30, this year awarded a detransitioner $2 million in damages after she sued her medical care providers for malpractice, for pressuring her into transitioning."

$2million award

These types of suits against medical care providers are becoming more and more common as sex-transition is revealed to not be based on competent analysis and data. In fact, the American Society of Plastic Surgeons, who perform most of the gender-transition surgeries, issued a landmark position statement disavowing gender-related breast, genital and facial surgeries for transgender patients under age 19 (tinyurl.com/surgeonsnixtranssurgeries1).

A 2023 analysis of U.S. surgical databases found that 3,700 children of ages 12–18 underwent a form of "gender-affirming" surgery from 2016 to 2020. More than 3,200 of those cases (that's 86%) — were breast removals (tinyurl.com/3200breastremovals) -- begging the question, "Why are we subjecting young minor girls to unsafe, dangerous procedures instead of protecting their health?"

This Bill supports the health of women. Vote YES on HB26-1087.
