I want to thank you, and every Speaker before you with whom I have served for believing in me.

If I can ever be of service to you or anyone else in the legislature, please don't hesitate to reach out.

Speaker Garnett addressed the Members of the House of Representatives.

I first want to say hello and thank you to:
my Niece Blair for saying the pledge;
my Brother Andrew and my sister-in-law Megan for being here; my mom and dad for always being there;

Ashton, my oldest, Adella who's 3, Anders who's 6 months; and Emily - man am I blessed to have you in my life. Jackson Brown once said: Choose your life's mate carefully. From this one decision will come 90 percent of all your happiness or misery...best decision I've ever made.

I also want to recognize and thank Kathy Hahn, Robin Jones, and Matt Becker for the tremendous work they did to ensure all the improvements to the chamber were completed in time for us to start session.

Happy Birthday Jenna.

You know, it's a bittersweet feeling, looking out on all of you today. Daneya, Patrick, Susan, Terri, Kevin, Kim: today marks our last first day of session. Congratulations to all of you for serving your full 8 years, it's certainly been an honor for $m e$.

We've come a long way since we were baby legislators. I've added a few grey hairs, a few pounds (pure muscle, right Patrick?), and a few kids.

All in all, I'm blessed to have served with each one of you and love you dearly.
As Speaker, I am humbled by the opportunities we have this session to govern on behalf of every Coloradan.

From the very beginning, our tenure has been shaped by the hands of history. Who would have guessed something as microscopic as a virus could hold the planet, and our fate, in a vice grip, shaping the way we govern.

In a way, the challenge of this virus is fitting. As many of you know, viruses are ultimately determined by a term that is now firmly in our daily conversations: DNA.

The structure, known as the double helix, is what we are used to seeing: two strands, intertwined, working together. I might offer, we across both parties, are the DNA of this building. Let us work together, to find solutions, to make progress, to deliver results

People need and deserve a government that listens to them and makes their lives easier when they confront unforeseen challenges as individuals, families and businesses. The problems Coloradans are facing are dynamic. They are moving fast and changing quickly, so we as a government have to respond in kind.

The unique situation we find ourselves in, not only because of COVID but also because of issues like the constant threats against our democracy, the rapidly changing economic landscape that has put enormous pressure on Colorado families, and the creeping menace of climate change, are a true test of all of us; of how well our government can run when the going really gets tough.

The issues we face are always in flux but the one constant that remains is this institution. I challenge each of you to put this institution first, like the thousands of legislators who served before us. In doing so, we'll set an example for the thousands that will come after us.

Speaking of those who have served in this chamber before our time, I'd like to take a moment to recognize the loss of former representative Mike McLachlan, a dear friend and a giant of Southern Colorado who dedicated his entire life to making our state and his home a better place for all.

Barbara, we love you and we're all here for you.
There's a lot we can learn from the legacy of Mike McLachlan. Despite serving in a fiercely competitive district, he was always willing to work across the aisle and collaborate with anyone on a good idea.

This year, I'm proud to announce that I will once again appoint Marc Caitlin as Vice Chair of the Agriculture, Livestock and Water committee.

To me, this is common sense: we all know Rep. Caitlin as an expert on these policy issues. But it's more than that to me. The appointment is also symbolic. It's a clear and resounding representation of my belief that in this building we work best when we work together.

For far too many families across our state, the going has gotten tougher and tougher in the last few years. Despite the incredible work we've done to make health care more affordable, create a more fair tax code, and support small businesses during their times of need, life in Colorado has gotten more and more expensive.

That's why my number one priority this session is to bring down the cost of living in Colorado and make life more affordable for families in our state.

As your Speaker, this will be the lens through which I will evaluate legislation: will this bill make life in Colorado more affordable or more expensive? How will this proposal improve life for everyday families struggling to make ends meet?

With these questions as our north star, I'm confident we can move Colorado forward.

Thankfully, we will not be starting from scratch. Far from it.
For years now, this body has been hard at work ensuring that the future of Colorado is affordable.

Our historic investments in education and the workforce development programs we instituted will ensure that Coloradans are ready to fill the high-paying jobs we've attracted to forge our state's future.

The early childhood education agency we created last year will get us closer to universal pre-K and, coupled with our work to provide full day Kindergarten across the state, we're already helping young parents to save money on child care at a time when, on average, childcare costs almost as much as college.

Our work to guarantee an affordable health insurance option in every county of the state means Coloradans will be better cared for and will keep more money in their pocket to spend when times are tough.

The prescription drug affordability board we set up last year will help rein in the skyrocketing cost of prescription drugs and prevent Coloradans from having to decide between buying life saving medication and putting food on the table.

As a firm believer in government's ability to get good work done despite the political muck, it brings me great satisfaction to know that many of these laws and programs were created in a cooperative and bipartisan way. I'm grateful to each of you, on both sides of the aisle, for the great effort you've made.

But this year, as high costs of living continue to tighten their grip on the budgets of families in Alamosa, Denver, and Larimer County alike, it won't be enough to cooperate on just 'some' of these solutions.

So what more perfect time to come together than now? Coloradans need everyone in this chamber coming together to move Colorado forward.

We all know what drives Colorado forward: good jobs, healthy and safe communities, successful small businesses, well-funded schools and a thriving workforce.

This session, we will deliver transformational changes that position Colorado for that future. Together, we're going to build a safer, more affordable and healthier Colorado for all.

As I mentioned earlier, my top priority is to save Coloradans money. The people of Colorado deserve to do more than just get by. That's why we have a plan for them to do better.

Our investment of federal dollars will save Coloradans money by directing nearly $$ 500$ million into innovative affordable housing solutions. With your help and hard work, we're going to create a Revolving Loan Fund to leverage private and local dollars to rapidly finance the development of affordable housing units. We're going to deploy thousands of ready-to-go affordable homes quickly, especially in more rural parts of our state.

And because housing costs are far from the only concern weighing on Coloradans' minds, we're going to keep working to lower prescription drug costs, ensuring that drug rebates are passed along to consumers, saving people money on health care.

We're going to save people money on child care by expanding universal preschool.

We're going to reduce fees associated with starting a business, or obtaining a professional license for nursing and other front line jobs.

All of these innovative ideas will mean more money in Coloradans pockets, but they also mean a stronger, more resilient economy.

Of course, this session will be as long as any other, so we'll work on more than just saving people money.

We are going to make smart public safety investments to prevent crime and reduce recidivism to make our communities safer. We want to stop crime before it happens, and will continue fighting to ensure that every Coloradan can feel safe in their community. And we want to stop people, especially young people, from entering the system in the first place, and to provide those who do with the tools they need to turn their lives around.

This means pursuing community-based solutions to homelessness and substance use disorders, working with local governments to address and prevent pandemic-induced crime, and investing in resources to break up crime rings.

We will not go back to the failed policies of the past that overpopulated our prisons, wasted taxpayer dollars, and left us with high recidivism and not nearly enough rehabilitation. Instead, it's time to make Colorado safer and forge a more compassionate, more effective criminal justice system.

As events over the last year laid bare, climate change is an urgent, immediate threat to our state, and our communities. We've taken steps to significantly reduce our greenhouse gas emissions and position our state toward a cleaner, greener future. But as last year's ozone pollution days showed us, we have more to do.

So we are going to better invest in our air and water by cracking down on polluters, improving our permitting and monitoring systems and reducing emissions on high ozone days like the ones we all suffered through last summer. We're going to invest in cleaning our air now.

COVID has been hard on all of us and we've all had to make enormous adjustments and sacrifices in the past couple of years. But few Coloradans have been tested and pushed to the brink the way that our educators have.

Across the state, the job of educators has gone from tough to damn-near impossible. Classrooms have gone virtual, lesson plans have gone out the window, the mental health of our children has suffered, and teachers have been left to pick up the pieces while earning half of what they deserve.

I want to take a moment to acknowledge the dedication of every educator in the state who has bent over backwards to ensure that our students can continue their education despite the turmoil. Recognizing their heroic efforts and sacrifices, I vow to fight tooth and nail to ensure that we don't divert a single dime away from public education. In fact, I'm proud to say that this session we are planning the largest investment in K-12 education in the state's history.

Health care and public health will continue to guide many of the decisions we make in this building. Despite our exhaustion and fatigue, COVID has not relented yet.

The Omicron variant is spreading through Colorado and our hospitals and their staff are still feeling the pressure. While vaccines are working and keeping those who have gotten the shot out of the hospital, the situation in Colorado and around the country remains dire.

I'd like to take this moment to thank the front line health workers, like our own Representatives Caraveo and Mullica, who have not rested to ensure the health and well-being of their fellow Coloradans.

The best way to show our gratitude to these brave Coloradans is to keep doing our part. Get your booster shot, keep wearing masks, and look out for one another.

When speaking of the duties of a citizen in a democratic Republic, Teddy Roosevelt said more than one hundred years ago that, in the long run, the success or failure of said nation would depend on the way in which the average man or woman does their duty, first in the ordinary, every-day affairs of life, and next in what he dubbed those great occasional cries which call for heroic virtues.

This is one such moment. Colorado needs the heroism of every man and woman who wishes to see our state succeed.

In the past few weeks, I have personally been reminded of the strength and resiliency of the people of Colorado. As we prepared to enter the new year, thousands of our friends and neighbors in Boulder county were displaced by the Marshall fire.

I know the thoughts and prayers of everyone in this room remain with all those affected by the fire. Seeing people from every corner of the state step up to offer places to stay, items and funds to donate, reminded me of how tough every day Coloradans are.

Of course, some take this a bit further and have made being "Colorado tough" a part of their job description. I'm talking about every single first responder who helped out that day, in particular Sheriff Joe Pelle and his team, whose ability to quickly execute the evacuation orders saved lives.

It's up to us to do our part to support first responders by continuing to tackle climate change head-on.

There is no doubt that the severity and the devastation of the Marshall fire were intensified by our changing climate. Last year's low precipitation, coupled with hurricane level winds, made for a perfect firestorm. What began as a suburban grass fire that would have raised little concern a decade ago ended as a destructive inferno and a reminder that climate change is a clear and present danger.

We cannot let up our fight.
Threats to our Colorado way of life are not only coming in the form of fires and pandemics. We cannot stand idly by while extremism threatens our liberty, our fundamental rights, and our democracy.

As some continue to deny that the 2020 election was free, fair and decisive, we in Colorado will keep holding up our state-of-the-art elections system as a model for the rest of the country to increase voter participation while guaranteeing electoral integrity.

As states across the country outlaw abortion, threaten reproductive rights and criminalize doctors who only seek to do right by their patients, we in Colorado will work overtime to ensure that the right to access a full range of reproductive health care, INCLUDING abortion, is never infringed upon.

Government works best when we look ahead and anticipate the problems of tomorrow.

That's why I'm so proud of this body, of each and every one of you, for the forward-thinking policymaking that we've done since the beginning of the pandemic. After we acted swiftly in 2020 during the special session to send relief to families and businesses, we pivoted in the middle of session to focus on allocating the federal relief dollars.

We shored up our state's reserves and we set aside hundreds of millions of dollars to make lasting, transformational change in the areas where help was needed most. Those areas for transformational change: affordable housing, workforce, mental and behavioral health and economic recovery are more important now than they were a year ago.

Throughout our legislative interim, members have been working diligently in those areas to come up with legislative solutions to the second wave of pressing needs brought on by COVID.

The bills that will come out of the interim task force processes won't solve these problems overnight. But I am confident - as you all should be - that making historic investments in our state's affordable housing, and mental and behavioral health infrastructure will address the root causes of crime, homelessness, and high costs of living in Colorado.

If we do our jobs as well as I know we can, then we will be treating the underlying causes of the afflictions that face our state, not just managing the symptoms.

Every year since I've been in this building, we sit here on Day One and lay out a laundry list of goals for ourselves. The task at hand seems monumental, even impossible at times, especially when you consider that the 120 day countdown has already begun.

Yet, somehow, through many long nights, many challenging committee hearings, many heated debates, we always find a way to get things done.

I'd like to take a moment here to talk about how I believe we should go about getting this done.

Politics, as we all know, has always been a rough business. But we cannot allow ourselves to use any of this as an excuse to act in a way that is disrespectful or that dishonors this institution and the people who sent us here to govern.

Don't put your ambition before the decorum of this institution. Don't use the well of this chamber as your twitter handle. Park your politics outside these hallowed doors.

Being elected to this office is a tremendous responsibility, I don't have to tell you that. That responsibility includes acting with respect, practicing compassion, and extending understanding to all of our fellow representatives.

It's impossible to know what each of your colleagues is going through, but I personally know of several members in this chamber who will be showing up to work this session while facing challenging and tragic situations in their personal lives.

In times as tough as these, we must be graceful, kind, and dignified as we work with each other.

I talk about respect for the institution and the importance of upholding decorum a lot. Some of you may be tired of hearing it from me, but the longer you spend in this building the more respect you have for the institution.

It's important to clarify that a failure in decorum is not you failing me. It's you failing the people of Colorado.

If you are not engaged in working on policy solutions, you are wasting the people's time. We were not elected to bicker or squabble. We were elected to govern and lead.

It's up to us to restore people's faith in government.
As I mentioned when I began, governing through a pandemic has changed the way I think about our responsibilities as lawmakers.

When we campaign, we all come in knowing what we want to focus on during our time in the legislature. We pull from our experiences, examine our own problems and aspirations, and decide the areas of public life we want to improve.

Hopefully, when we are elected, we also know a little bit about what our constituents would like us to focus on. We have deep roots in our communities and spend time going door to door, hearing what people want and need from their government.

What we don't know is what hand we'll be dealt while we're in office.
Societal unrest, global pandemics, economic downturns - as we all know, the focus of a legislative body can change in an instant.

So our duty as Representatives is to do the best we can with the trust we've been given. It is to listen and problem solve. To work together and find nimble fixes to thorny problems.

We owe it to our constituents, to this institution, and to ourselves to stay humble, stay flexible, and stay steadfast in our commitment to making life in this state a little bit better every single day.

Let's move Colorado forward, together.

Minority Leader McKean addressed the Members of the House of Representatives.

Today officially marks our return to the 73rd General Assembly and the 147th year that we have come together to do the work of governing the State of Colorado.

As we commence it is fitting to think about the work ahead of us and the monstrous labor ahead for those who lost their homes and were affected by the Marshall Fire in Boulder County. I cannot imagine the shock and heartache of loss and how difficult it is to work through the maze of things to do in rebuilding a life. Many of us here have taken time to go and lend a hand and I know we are all here to help in any way we can.

On opening day last year, I talked about how much had changed over the last 146 years, from the gas lanterns that used to illuminate the halls to the spittoons that used to separate our desks, but I also talked about how many things remain the same, including some that even today might surprise you.

Remarkably, I'm still the Minority Leader. Go figure.
Fortunately, the state is not at the brink of disaster. The impact of COVID, while still large, is abating and we are moving into the endemic stage of this public health crisis. Months of drought have finally brought inches of snow to the Front Range and feet to the mountains, the Denver Broncos have fired their coach and we are anticipating the arrival of warm days and spring. It would seem that things are trotting right along but I really never imagined how much would change in just 11 short months since I gave that speech.

So much has changed in Coloradans' everyday existence, so much that we barely recognize big swaths of our lives. The ability to provide for one's family has changed dramatically. The everyday things that we have taken for granted are different or, often, gone. The nightly news is a far different set of stories and alerts, things we could never have imagined. For most of my young life I heard that it was "change for the better" but today, standing here in front of all of you, I cannot make that claim.

For many families across the state, inflation and the rapid increase in the cost of living have been extremely difficult. The goods that once were affordable and fit within families' budgets are no longer and with changing school schedules and a lack of child care, many families are having to do with less in a world where everything costs more.

Across the board, inflation is costing the average American family hundreds more dollars a month, consumer prices have increased 6.5 percent and producer prices by over 8 percent. This can be especially difficult in rural communities where families have further to drive and less access to goods and services.

Just this year, housing prices have increased 20 percent, a record high, and are expected to continue rising. The cost to fill up your car, up 7 percent, to heat your home up 112 percent and the price of coal up 35 percent. Another essential for Colorado families, food, has increased in price at a faster rate this past year than it did during the last decade, nearly an additional $200 a month for the average family.

Goods across the country have increased in price at the fastest rate in over 30 years, creating real hardship for people everywhere. It costs them significantly more to feed their family every day, to drive to and from work, and to heat their homes. But, we have failed to truly make it better. Instead, most of the last legislative session was spent passing bills that increased taxes and fees and made life more expensive for the very people we are trying to help. Families have long memories of hard times, most of our parents remember the toughness of the Depression, many of us remember the inflation of the 1970's and the race between the money and the bills, never knowing which would run out first.

But good times often make us forget and we have had a few years of a good economy and opportunities with jobs and housing. What we will not forget is the legislation that was passed just last year that went around the Taxpayer's Bill of Rights by swapping the word "tax" for "fee." We all know it is a gas tax, the Governor said so more than once this week. But now, ahead of the election, he has decided to delay the very fees that he told us were critical to pass, saying that delay is saving people money even though the fee is just another tax.

So instead of playing tricksy with words, let's actually make things more affordable here in Colorado by eliminating excessive taxes and fees.

If families are not sitting around the table worrying about how to make ends meet, they are worried about the safety of their community and their children. Today, communities like mine face organized car theft rings, early morning raids robbing families on their way to get to work. This is not some fantasy, the monthly crime rate in Colorado is up 15 percent.

Today we find ourselves in a position of weakness. Laws passed in the last few years have put our way of life at risk. The policies have hit urban neighborhoods especially hard and have forced families to choose between living where they want or moving to where they feel safe.

That's not fair.

Hearing the staggering statistics of crime in our state over the last year should not come as a surprise. In fact, Republicans in this very chamber fought for hours on end in committee rooms here in this building against the legislation that helped create the problems we see today.

As a result, Coloradans have had to deal with a 6.5 percent increase in violent crimes, the highest levels in 25 years. That included a substantial increase in homicides and aggravated assaults. Additionally, we lead the country in the rate of auto theft. Over the last ten years Colorado's rate has increased by 135 percent while the national rate was only 3 percent, and we have seen the largest increase in property crimes of any state.

This needs to stop.
Over the vigorous opposition of members elected by a pretty large number of folks in our state this legislature has passed bills that have eviscerated policing in Colorado. Even while making claims to be getting tough on crime they have passed, and the Governor has signed, legislation making Colorado less safe. It is no wonder why criminals are able to get away with so much today.

Law enforcement leaders from across the state are speaking up about how this legislation has impacted their communities. In Denver, the County Court and District Attorney have been releasing a record number of individuals with either low or no bond. The Denver Police Chief has had to turn to federal agencies so that criminals could actually be held accountable for their crimes.

In Colorado Springs, Mayor John Suthers has blamed the legislation that has come out of this building in recent years for undermining public safety and soaring crime rates. He, along with law enforcement leaders from across the state, have expressed their concerns with shortening prison sentences and the reclassification of crimes.

In a time when retention is already hard enough as police officers have been criticized by political leaders and the media, police departments across the state are having a hard time keeping people around to patrol the streets. With increased regulations and demands from the legislature, officers' safety is at risk and Mayor Suthers, and many others, worry about how they will be able to rely on officers and find new ones for their understaffed departments.

Unfortunately, public safety will only get worse if we continue to let individuals who were arrested back out on the streets with either low or no bond. By condemning all law enforcement officers as bad cops, de-policing is rising and officers are pulling back from community patrols. A reduction in the number and activity of police officers results in more dangerous criminals on the streets who pose a dangerous threat to communities.

As a result of this shocking reality, Colorado - especially the Denver metro area - is in a very different place in 2022, and not for the better...

As state legislators, some of this is out of our control. But the policies that were enacted here during the last three years did not help. The current state of our state is not good. We are going to have to spend every day of the next 120 days of the legislative session fighting to make it better for the people of Colorado, they deserve our best effort at the very least.

The reality is that rising crime has a price tag and a high one at that. As of late, that cost is about $$ 27$ billion, nearly 77 percent of the state budget, or $$ 4,762$ a year for every Coloradan. We can not afford to continue down this path. We have to return to the "broken window" theory of policing that puts an emphasis on all our laws and focus on training and rigorous reporting procedures for our law enforcement professionals.

While Colorado families have been at home dealing with these issues they have also had to pick up the pieces of their children's education. The move to remote learning was not only hard for teachers but also for many students, and we still do not know the true impact. While Colorado students were already behind in reading comprehension and math and science skills, we lost even more ground.

We need better options when it comes to our kids' education. The future should not be a function of the past three decades of focusing on four-year degrees and professional career tracks. Instead it should be a compilation of every educational choice available. Academic rigor, vocational training, and practical business skills are equal pathways to success for our kids. Parents must be empowered to make these decisions, to determine what is the best path for their children.

Across the country, people are speaking up about these very issues. They want inflation and rising costs to be addressed so that they can afford the life that they once enjoyed. They want crime in their cities under control so that they and their children can feel safe in their neighborhoods. Almost 80 percent of parents want more control over what their children are learning in school and the schools that they attend.

So what do we do, how do we move forward? As Republicans we will do everything in our power to actually help Coloradans be able to afford to fill up their car with gas or go to the grocery store, to be able to heat their house this winter, to feel safe in their neighborhood and not have to worry about their children's safety or their personal property. We will do everything we can to help bring the American Dream back, to help alleviate the pain that families are facing every day.

While our colleagues are saying they share these ideas, we have seen the reality of their policies after they have had complete control of this state for the last three years.

It seems like the focus of what it will take to make Colorado the place we all have loved living and where we continue to want to live and raise our kids are all connected. Coloradans, and Americans across the country, have come together in the frustration that it takes more to live than it did a couple of years ago. This year will require a focus on how we can lower the cost of living in this state through things we can control, in particular eliminating the endless list of taxes and fees, not just postponing them.

This will, indeed, be a year of showing our love for a state that is in trouble.
Our Commitment to Colorado will help improve the cost of living, offer solutions to make our communities safer, and give parents the tools to make decisions and improve the education of their children. We have a message and a direction to help heal and recover this state from all of the destruction of the last three years.

We will deliver a state where middle-class families can afford their homes, gas, and groceries. We will reverse the excessive fees, taxes, and regulations that threaten to put the American Dream out of reach for many Coloradans.

We will seek to provide better training for our law enforcement professionals, work to recruit and retain more officers, bring down the crime rate, and bring safety to our neighborhoods.

We will foster greater choice for all families and find innovative ways to ensure funding follows students rather than being bound to systems. We believe the one-size-fits-all system has failed our most vulnerable.

As I have said before and will say again, we Republicans will rise to this podium each and every day committed to ideals that have stood the test of time. We will continue to fight for a government that is accountable to its people so that we can all achieve our dreams by equalizing opportunity, not by attempting to equalize outcomes.

Not all change is bad. The technological advances and improvements to the state capitol have helped us all do our jobs better and we should all be grateful for changes that have improved our lives. Changes that have proven to help our citizens speak to their government, remote testimony in our committees, has been especially helpful in making our government accountable. But unfortunately, not all change is good. Not the change that we have seen over the last few years, change that was made right here in this building.

Coloradans need our help, they need our voices to bring the American Dream back. Just like last year, we have a long road to recovery ahead of us.

Over the next 120 days of this legislative session, you will hear every Republican repeating and reiterating many of the same statistics I've talked about today. Why? It is not just about messaging, it is because these numbers are real and they matter to the people of Colorado. These numbers represent a nurse whose car was stolen out of her driveway as she got ready to go to work, a high school student struggling in geometry, they represent a single Dad having to put some of the groceries back on the shelf. They represent people. That's who we need to fight for and Republicans are committed to doing so.

House in recess. House reconvened.

ADDRESS BY THE HONORABLE Jared Polis

Good morning everyone.
One traditionally begins a State of the State address by acknowledging dignitaries here in the chamber, but this morning calls for something a little different. I want to first acknowledge the people who couldn't be here.

Please join me in a moment of silence for Coloradans who have lost their lives: to COVID, to violence, and to natural disasters including the recent Boulder County fires.

Now,
To the legislative leadership in both parties, Members of the General Assembly, Lieutenant Governor Primavera,
Treasurer Young, Attorney General Weiser, Our dedicated First Gentleman Reis, Mayor Hancock, Mayor Coffman,
Members of the State Board of Education,
Justices of the Colorado Supreme Court, and Members of the Cabinet,
Welcome. I appreciate and value your presence here today, and I look forward to all the good work we will do in the days and weeks ahead on behalf of the people of Colorado. We are so privileged to represent you.

My Fellow Coloradans,
I want to begin today with gratitude. Gratitude for the people of Colorado, who have shown-up, day after day, in the face of trauma and under the most difficult circumstances, to help one another, to help OUR Colorado. Gratitude for the individuals who set aside their own personal challenges to support the needs of our community. Gratitude for my colleagues in this chamber who have put Coloradans first, no matter what. And gratitude, of course, for my family. Marlon, I want to thank you for being here today and everyday for me and our family. Gratitude for my staff, who continue working in service to our great state through thick and thin.

While this pandemic has made even the most mundane activities risky, we have not endured the virus alone. Evil acts against innocent people in the places where we once ran errands or recreated have also made us feel less safe. We have feared the ever changing nature of the virus, wondering if what protected us yesterday will protect us today. We learned that the words 'fire season' don't apply when the most destructive fire in Colorado history happens on December 30th. And we were reminded, once more, that our lives, and everything we hold dear, can go up in flames in an instant.

Yet, hope shines through. Hope.

I know how easy it is to get lost in the pain and sadness of what we've all endured together. But no matter how tough this year has been, I know for a fact that Coloradans are fundamentally good, we care for one another and we are tougher than anything thrown our way. I've seen it myself.

I've seen it in the students of Central High School in Mesa County, who, with the help of school staff, stood up a series of vaccination clinics before many of them were even eligible to get vaccinated, working 10 to 11 hour days to get more than 1,300 community members vaccinated. Mesa County Valley District 51 Assistant Superintendent Brian Hill, and school staff Kim Flynn and Trey Downey are here with us today. Please stand. You are remarkable role models for the students you help educate.

I've seen it in the men and women on the front lines of this pandemic who have helped us achieve one of the shortest shutdowns and one of the lowest death rates in the country. Thank you to Colorado's COVID Response Team led by Colorado Department of Public Health and Environment Director Jill Ryan; Public Safety Director Stan Hilkey; and, COVID-19 Incident Commander, Scott Bookman; our team of experts and scientists, our local public health officials working on the ground in their communities; national guard members who have spent the last 672 consecutive days supporting Colorado's pandemic response by staffing our testing sites and helping distribute vaccines, critical workers and staff in Colorado's 24/7 facilities, and of course the heroic nurses, doctors, and health care providers who have never stopped putting their patients first. Politicians talk about improving lives. You actually save lives. Please stand and let us recognize you.

I've seen it in the individuals and businesses who collectively donated more than $$ 20$ Million to support their fellow Coloradans who had homes damaged or destroyed by the Boulder County fire.

I've seen it in Boulder Sheriff Joe Pelle and his team, and the firefighters and emergency responders, who sprung into action to save the lives and homes of their neighbors, even when they didn't know whether their own homes were still standing. We're joined by Sheriff Pelle, who, for the last 18 years, has led my hometown community of Boulder County through countless natural disasters and emergencies. Sheriff Pelle, firefighters, and emergency responders, please stand so we can thank you for the lifesaving work that you do every day.

I saw it in Lakewood Police Officer Ashley Ferris, who was injured in crossfire with the perpetrator of the heinous attacks across Denver and Lakewood. Still, she found the strength to take down the shooter, ending his violent killing spree and saving many precious lives. She couldn't join us today, but we wish Officer Ferris a speedy recovery. Please join me in thanking her.

And I saw it in Boulder Officer Eric Talley and Arvada Officer Gordon Beesley, who both braved active shooter situations to save the lives of their fellow community members, even though it meant ultimately losing their own. They have our everlasting gratitude.

This is the Colorado spirit. These men and women define who we are as a people, and represent the very best of us. There are so many other stories like theirs, of everyday people doing their best and giving everything to protect our Colorado.

It feels like every time we turn on the news, all we see is partisanship, polarization and division. Division across the country. Division in Congress. But not here; not in Colorado, where we set aside our differences, and come together to do what is right. It's just who we are.

No one political party has a monopoly on good ideas or love of country. I am proud to be joined today by my friend and former Treasurer, Walker Stapleton, who I recently appointed to the Economic Development Commission. I appointed Walker because I know how much he loves this state, and Colorado will benefit from his talent and business savvy, just as the General Assembly will benefit from Speaker Garnett's appointment of Representative Marc Catlin as vice chair of the House Agriculture Committee.

This isn't my Colorado or your Colorado, this is our Colorado - which is why we respond together, we heal together, we move forward together, and we succeed together. It's why, in spite of all we have faced this last year, I count it the greatest honor of my life to serve as your Governor, and am hopeful as ever about the promise of our Colorado.

It's up to us here in this chamber to continue doing everything in our power to protect the way of life we cherish in our state, and build on our accomplishments of the last year.

When I stood before you all last February, I described a vision for the future of our state.

A future where every child can get the education they deserve.
A future where a dynamic, multi-modal transportation system meets the needs of our growing population.

A future where access to affordable and quality health care is a given, not an aspiration.

A future where we protect and invest in the public lands and parks that make Colorado beautiful by building a clean energy economy.

A future where our people and our communities aren't just getting by, but thriving.

That future was more than just a dream; it was a call to action -- a challenge for us all to live up to this shared vision of our state. I'm proud that in spite of the many difficulties we have weathered, that vision is within reach, thanks to the hard work of this legislative body and our shared commitment to deliver for Coloradans.

I want to take a moment to recognize the best partners a Governor could ask for in the two gentlemen sitting behind me. In these unprecedented times, we may not agree on everything, but our unwavering, mutual commitment to the success of all Coloradans and our beautiful state is the rock solid foundation upon which we've built a lasting partnership rooted in trust. I want to express my heartfelt thanks to Speaker Alec Garnett and President Leroy Garcia in their last legislative session for their service to the people of our state.

And to House Majority Leader Esgar, who is also starting her last session, thank you for your partnership, and tireless advocacy on behalf of Pueblo and all our hard working state employees.

To Senator Holbert, thank you for the dialogue and bipartisan collaboration, and for your steady leadership for Douglas County.

Finally, to Senator Fenberg and Representative McKean, if you want a shout-out like this, you'd better stay put for another couple more years.

Saving Coloradans Money

Just as we've stepped up to meet what has often felt like a never-ending onslaught of disasters and challenges, we have the opportunity to respond with that same resolve and urgency to the day-to-day crises Coloradans are facing.

Because of this pandemic, the cost of living in our fair state continues to escalate, and Coloradans are desperate for relief. So let's deliver.

We must double down on our promise to help every business and family succeed. That means taking less of your hard-earned money in fees and taxes, and putting more in your pockets and paychecks.

Inflation has accelerated during the pandemic. Supply chains have been disrupted. Spending habits have changed. The cost of housing has spiked. Farmers and ranchers face unprecedented losses, and many Coloradans have left the workforce. Too many people are struggling to make ends meet.

As your Governor, I want you to know: we hear you and we are here to do something about it. While all of these complex problems can't be solved overnight, we promise to use every single tool at our disposal to save hardworking Coloradans the money you need to live the life you want.

In one of his most popular songs, legendary songwriter Paul Simon sings of 50 ways.

You just slip out the back, Jack

Make a new plan, Stan
You don't need to be coy, Roy
Just get yourself free
Now, I'm no Paul Simon, or even Vice President Selina Meyer, but in the year ahead, I'll be pushing for MORE than 50 ways to save Coloradans money. I don't have a knack for rhyming or a voice to sing, what I CAN promise is that the work we do here will save Coloradans money.

My version of Simon's lyrics goes a little something like this:
"Just cut the tax, Max;
lower the rate, Nate;
you don't need to pay more, Thor;
just send your kids for free (to preschool and kindergarten)
This isn't a new idea for my administration, in fact it's been hard-wired into our DNA from day one.

In my first weeks in office, we created the Office of Saving People Money on Health Care, which-in collaboration with legislators and healthcare providers-has resulted in nation- leading efforts to reduce health care costs.

Thanks to the efforts of Representatives McCluskie, Representative Rich, Senator Donovan, and Senator Rankin, we created a reinsurance program which has reduced health care premiums on the individual market by $24 \%$, saving hardworking Coloradans an average of $$ 1,400$ this year statewide, and an average of $$ 2,450$ per year in Western Colorado, one of the highest cost markets.

With the tireless commitment of Senator Donovan, Representative Jodeh, and Representative Roberts, we created a first-in-the-country insurance model that will save money for everyone who buys insurance on the individual or small group markets.

And thanks to the leadership of Representative Roberts, we are capping the skyrocketing cost of insulin at $$ 100$ per month.

After years of advocacy by members of this body, including former Representative Wilson, current Representative McLachlan and Senators Bridges and Fields, the General Assembly passed free, full-day kindergarten, saving families up to $$ 4,800$ - and giving our youngest Coloradans a fantastic start in life.

With Speaker Garnett, Representative Sirota, Senate Majority Leader Fenberg, and Senator Buckner leading the way, we're focused on implementing free, universal preschool by 2023, saving even more money for young families with an average $$ 4,300$ in savings per family.

Health care and education are where Coloradans face some of the highest costs, but we know they aren't the only pain points. That's why we've also implemented historic tax relief, helping Coloradans keep more of what they earn.

We funded the Colorado Child Tax Credit for the first time in history, giving families with children under age six up to $$ 1,080$ per year per child. We also doubled the state Earned Income Tax Credit, giving workers up to $$ 1,495$ per year. We cut taxes for retirees by exempting social security earnings from the state income tax, saving seniors up to $$ 654$ per year.

Voters also approved reductions to the Colorado income tax rate, which is saving families about $$ 100$ per year on average, while helping businesses hire more and pay more. And because we in this chamber are not only committed to saving Coloradans money, but to doing it in a way that ensures continued access to critical state services, we fully paid for the tax cuts by reducing lobbyist loopholes and special interest tax giveaways for the wealthy and well-connected.

And I want to thank Senator Dominic Moreno, Senator Chris Hansen, and Representatives Sirota and Weissman for their leadership on this bold tax reform package that is already saving people money.

Because our revenues are strong, families will also receive a tax refund of $$ 74$ on average this year, and about $$ 440$ on average next year, along with another income tax rate cut of $1.1 \%$.

We also cut property taxes for farms, ranches, renewable energy projects, and homes, and next year, we will start letting every homeowner defer increases on their property taxes, ensuring they won't ever have to pay a tax bill they can't afford. Thank you Treasurer Young for your leadership in protecting families from rising property tax bills.

My administration will work with both parties to continue cutting taxes and fees wherever we can, but never at the expense of teachers and law enforcement.

We took bipartisan action in 2020 and again in 2021, allowing restaurants and bars to keep their sales taxes during the pandemic! Thank you to Representatives Van Winkle, Valdez, and Mullica, and Senators Bridges, Pettersen, Woodward, and former Senator Tate.

In our commitment to help support our local economies, our tax reform package permanently exempted small businesses from the business personal property tax, meaning real savings in time and money for nearly every main street business.

Businesses like The Smiling Pig restaurant in Park County, owned by Tim Gregg, will save more than $$ 1,000$ a year thanks to these policies. We're joined today by Tim, and Park County Assessor Monica Jones. Please join me in welcoming them.

To keep costs down for entrepreneurs like Tim and so many others, I'm proposing that we further reduce fees like the unemployment insurance premium and the Paid Family and Medical Leave premium, resulting in hundreds of millions in savings for the businesses and workers that power our economy.

And while we're at it, to foster our entrepreneurial spirit, we should make it free for Coloradans to start their own business. I look forward to working with Secretary of State Jena Griswold, Representatives Cutter and Sullivan, and Senators Pettersen and Kolker on this effort.

Last year, Majority Leader Fenberg, Senator Donovan and Representatives Will and Tipper brought us the innovative Keep Colorado Wild Pass, cutting the cost of an annual pass to state parks by more than half, saving the average family more than $$ 40$. With this pass, everyone can enjoy our treasured public lands for less - including our newest state parks at Fishers Peak and Sweetwater Lake, while increasing the resources to care for these lands.

Thanks to CDOT Director Shoshana Lew, a bipartisan coalition of legislators, and local leaders, including Mayor Suthers and Mayor Coffman, we passed historic transportation reform.

Spearheaded by Senator Faith Winter, Senate Majority Leader Fenberg, Speaker Garnett and Representative Matt Gray, we cut vehicle registration fees, saving people money, while making record investments in our rural roads, and new ways to transport people, goods, and services that will save Coloradans time and money, and put our state on a pathway to a cleaner, more sustainable transportation system. We are finally going to fix the darn roads.

Looking to the year ahead, I am excited that, with the leadership of Representatives Ortiz and Young, and Senators Fields and Kolker, we are doubling down on our efforts to cut costs for Coloradans by preventing increases in drivers' license fees, and I look forward to efforts to reduce vehicle registration fees.

We've lowered housing costs by funding more than 14,000 units of affordable housing in the last year, saving families more than $$ 72$ million annually. And we are ready to do more.

Rising housing costs are pricing people out of neighborhoods they've lived in for years. To create even more housing opportunities, to improve affordability, we should capitalize on the once in a lifetime funding from President Biden's American Rescue Plan Act.

I look forward to building on the incredible work of the bi-partisan Affordable Housing Transformational Task Force, under the leadership of former Representative Dominique Jackson, Chairman Roberts, and Vice-chairwoman Senator Julie Gonzales, to create stronger, healthier, and more affordable communities.

And because we want to lead by example, we are saving Coloradans money by making your State Government more efficient and effective. We are on track to reduce our state's office space footprint by 1 million square feet over the next three years, cutting costs and improving employee retention and morale. We're implementing best practices from the private sector to save millions in contract negotiations. And by improving our digital services, we are becoming leaner, less bureaucratic, and more convenient for the people of Colorado.

In the coming weeks and months, we must continue these efforts and find new and innovative ways to save Coloradans money.

These policies matter to Coloradans. It isn't just dollars and cents back in our pockets, it's peace of mind for our families, and that's PRICELESS!

So yes, there must be at least 50 ways to Save Coloradans Money, 50 ways to Save Coloradans Money.

If it isn't clear, saving Coloradans money and keeping our state affordable is my top priority during this legislative session. And one of the biggest areas to save people money is healthcare.

PROACTIVE AGENDA -- Behavioral Health Care

Thanks to Lt. Governor Dianne Primavera, who leads our Office of Saving People Money on Health Care, and our legislative champions, we have delivered on our promises to cut costs, even in the midst of the pandemic, cutting premiums and capping out of pocket drug costs. And we're not done yet.

Here in Colorado and across the nation, the pandemic has worsened what was already a horrifying trend of young children, teens, and adults suffering increased feelings of anxiety, isolation, depression, and other mental health issues. Colorado needs to take bold action now.

We want to partner with local governments and school districts to multiply the impact of historic funding to create a responsible, effective approach to addressing behavioral health needs from the mountains to the plains. Getting there means offering more integrated physical and mental health services, bolstering our often overworked behavioral health workforce, and most importantly, getting Colorado children the support they need to be happy - to just be kids.

Thanks to the leadership of Representative Michaelson Jenet, we now have the I Matter Program, which connects our kids with critical mental health support. We're joined today by Melyssa Mead and her wonderful son Grady. When Grady - like so many kids across our state - needed mental health support this last year, Melyssa ran up against the harsh reality of an expensive and bureaucratic behavioral health system. She had first struggled to find the support her family needed, until she found the free I Matter Program. Within minutes of reaching out through imattercolorado.org, Melyssa and Grady were on their way. And a few days later, they were scheduled for their first appointment.

Grady, your future is bright! Know that everyone in this room is rooting for you, and you are never alone.

Let's build on this success. Good work is already being done, and we have the opportunity to make it available for all Coloradans, especially our youth.

I want to thank the members of the Behavioral Health Transformational Task Force under the capable leadership of Committee Chairwoman Pettersen and Vice-chair Gonzales-Gutierrez. We have confidence that your many excellent recommendations will lead to tremendous strides in looking after the mental health of our fellow Coloradans.

As we pursue the improved health and well-being of Coloradans, especially our children, we shouldn't overlook the power of a strong education.

Education

Helping kids get a great education is the cornerstone and passion of my life's work. I'm so proud that over the last few years, we have done what generations before believed impossible: we established free, full-day kindergarten and universal preschool. We're joined today by Alexis Ramirez and her son Benjamin, who know full well the importance of free kindergarten. Benjamin is attending kindergarten for free, along with more than 60,000 other Colorado five year olds thanks to the work we've done here. Please join me in welcoming Alexis and Benjamin.

But despite our progress, the pandemic has dealt an especially hard blow to our students, and made our educators go far beyond what any of us could have expected.

My administration worked tirelessly with school superintendents and local public health leaders to successfully bring Colorado children back to the classroom last year. We are providing free medical grade masks - with more than two million distributed to date - testing supplies for all students and staff, and are hosting on-site vaccine clinics to ensure that every eligible student and staff member gets the protection they deserve.

I want to thank every educator and school staff member who has done their part and then some to help keep Colorado schools open. There is nothing more important to the future of our state than educating Colorado children.

That's why I have a plan for historic investment in Kindergarten through 12th grade education, which will reduce the Budget Stabilization Factor to a 13-year low, while increasing per pupil funding by roughly $12-13 thousand per classroom, supporting smaller class sizes and enhanced pay for teachers. And we must take the RESPONSIBLE approach by setting money aside to keep up with these investments for future years.

With this increase in funding, the Canon City School District will be able to compensate educators better and finally be able to fund full-time mental health professionals and counseling staff to provide the emotional support necessary to help students thrive in each and every one of its schools. We're joined today by Canon City school counselors Brian Vaniwarden and Stacy Andrews.

Please stand and be recognized.
I'm also proposing stronger support for our state's institutions of higher education, including an expansion of available financial aid, and investments to help reduce costs and keep tuition flat.

Just as we are investing in the success of our students, we are also investing in the people and small businesses that power Colorado's economy.

Workforce

I want to thank the Workforce Task Force, including Representative McCluskie and Senator Zenzinger and the Colorado Commission on Higher Education, for your commitment to crafting recommendations that will help create a thriving workforce where everyone in every community, in every corner of the state can "Live long and prosper."

We know this pandemic has been hard on workers across all industries, but perhaps none more than doctors, nurses, and healthcare professionals.

I want to thank the Joint Budget Committee for their partnership on raising base wages to $$ 15$ an hour minimum for more than 30,000 Medicaid Home and Community Based Services workers who provide care to aging and disabled Coloradans, and now we are doing the same for similar positions in nursing facilities.

Looking ahead, I am proposing that we waive licensing fees for nurses and mental health care workers, as well as for our nursing homes and assisted living facilities whose residents have been particularly vulnerable throughout the pandemic. Eliminating these fees puts money back into the pockets of our dedicated healthcare workers.

Putting this pandemic behind us means learning to live with the curve balls that COVID-19 may throw, but in order to do that, we need our hospitals to maintain capacity and ensure Coloradans get the care they need, no matter what. That's why I will be proposing in the days ahead, a three year plan to make historic investments to stabilize our healthcare workforce and expand career paths for all Coloradans who heed the noble calling of caring for others. Moving forward, we can't let our society and our economy be impacted by hospital capacity, and I look forward to working with legislators and health care leaders to ensure that no matter where this pandemic takes us, we will be ready.

Public Safety

Just as an earthquake is followed by aftershocks, we know that the overarching crisis of the pandemic has led to many other crises, perhaps lesser seen, but no less important to address. Some Coloradans are most impacted by the health risks of COVID-19, others are most pained by the rising cost of everyday items, disruptions to our children's education, or the increase of crime in the communities we call home.

I want to take a moment to recognize the law enforcement professionals here with us today. In addition to Sheriff Pelle, we're joined by several District Attorneys, Police Chiefs, Sheriffs and our State Patrol Officers, who spend every day keeping us safe. You always stand up for us, so today, let US stand up for YOU. Thank you.

I've never been one to shy away from ambitious goals, which is why I want to spend the next five years making Colorado one of the top ten safest states in the country. Let's "Make it so!" We've already taken critical steps in fighting crime and promoting public safety, and now we need to continue that work.

I'm proud to put forward a responsible public safety plan that builds on historic legislation of years past, gives much-needed support and funding to local law enforcement while also investing in community-based approaches and organizations that can help prevent violent crime from occurring in the first place. Organizations like GRASP, which stands for Gang Rescue and Support Project, is run by peers who have turned their lives around and want to help others do the same. GRASP focuses on supporting Colorado youth through mental health support, at-risk intervention, job training and mentoring. Please join me in welcoming GRASP's Executive Director Johnnie Williams.

We are going to make our communities safer by focusing on training and recruiting efforts for police, supporting community policing models, increasing access to mental health services, offering early intervention grants, increasing support for domestic violence victims, and making safety improvements in our schools and on our streets.

I want to thank the Senate President Garcia and Senator Buckner who, along with Representatives Tipper and Ricks, are leading a particularly exciting initiative - Safer Streets - which will empower law enforcement to work directly with communities to create stronger, safer communities, with an emphasis on those areas most touched by crime.

We owe it to the people of Colorado to improve safety and make Colorado truly one of the ten safest states in the nation over the next five years.

As Ben Franklin said, an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. Data and common sense tell us that preventing a crime does more to keep people safe than solving a crime after it was committed.

With that being said, we also know that there are times when the swift arm of justice is the best solution, which is why I look forward to legislation to strengthen penalties for drug dealers peddling fentanyl in our communities. Coloradans are sick and tired of seeing this drug ruin lives and kill loved ones.

It's also time that we put forward bigger and bolder solutions to reduce homelessness. We know what works; we just need more of it: affordable and transitional housing, substance use treatment and recovery care, related residential programs, and permanent housing with wrap-around support services, and recipients of funds need to be held accountable for actually reducing homelessness.

We will stop at nothing to keep Coloradans safe. Public safety is a critical component of a strong and healthy community. But it doesn't end there.

Climate/Air Quality

Building safer, healthier communities also means improving our air quality and meeting the climate crisis head-on.

Only two weeks ago, our state watched in horror as the fire in Boulder County, fueled by extreme winds and drought conditions, swept through communities like yours and mine. These are our neighbors, our friends, and our family.

Last year, historic mudslides destroyed portions of I-70 through Glenwood Canyon. And in 2020, the three largest wildfires in Colorado history scorched hundreds of thousands of acres, filling our skies with smoke-filled air for months on end.

I'm grateful for the work my administration has done in partnership with Colorado's legislative leaders to move our state toward a cleaner more renewable energy future. We've set Colorado on a path to reducing emissions statewide, while also creating two new state parks and expanding access to our state trust lands. Thanks to our legislative champions, we have invested in the people and technology we need to effectively respond to climate disasters. Tools like the agile FireHawk helicopter can give our firefighters the upper hand on the front-lines. And targeted mitigation efforts can prevent small fires from becoming catastrophes. I'm requesting additional support for the men and women on the ground, including personal protective equipment, training, and other equipment needs for local fire departments.

The fresh mountain air that so many people associate with Colorado isn't a given. We have to fight to protect it. I'm committed to cutting emissions and getting this done by improving air quality. It's not about health alone; it's about seizing the opportunity to reduce costs for Coloradans and save people money, while preserving the Colorado way of life.

We will continue making targeted investments to improve air quality monitoring and enforcement, increase the availability of clean transportation options like electric school buses, accelerate our transition to a cleaner economy, and apply real accountability as we seek and secure environmental justice for those who are most impacted.

And because water is the lifeblood of our state and our critical agriculture industry, we must work together across industries, divides, and state boundaries to secure a sustainable water future for all Coloradans. We will continue to protect and aggressively assert Colorado's water rights under all existing water compacts. And I am also committed to updating Colorado's Water Plan to make it more climate resilient, and ensure that our cities, farms, and streams can thrive for generations to come.

Conclusion

Just like 2021 was the year that Britney reclaimed her freedom and Taylor Swift reclaimed her music, it was also the year we began reclaiming what it means to live happy and healthy lives here in Colorado, even in the midst of tragedy - and this is the year we double down on that. Heck, even the beloved Colorado icon Casa Bonita is making a much-hoped-for comeback thanks to South Park's Trey Parker and Matt Stone. The pandemic has taken so much from us, but no more. As Taylor says, I don't know about you but I'm feeling 2022, everything will be alright, because we know what we gotta do.

It's easy for us all to talk about the grand ideas we have for our beloved state, but it's another thing entirely to turn words into actions.

When I was elected Governor, I knew that I would be remembered not for who I was, where I came from, or even what I said at events like this, but for what I did to make a meaningful, measurable, positive impact on the lives of Coloradans. How our efforts helped businesses succeed, put money in people's pockets, made streets safer, air cleaner, and lives healthier.

If there is one thing that you take away from today, let it be my optimism for the days ahead, our commitment to Moving Colorado Forward by saving people money, improving affordability, and making our state a better place for everyone.

Because this is Our Colorado, and I couldn't be more proud to be your Governor.

When I see the staggering beauty of the Rocky Mountains, I'm reminded of what it means to be a Coloradan.

It's true from the Flatirons to Fishers Peak to Pikes Peak to Longs Peak and beyond.

You see, these mountains have withstood millions of years of whipping winds, pounding rains, cutting ice, and blistering fires. Cracks have formed and the rock has eroded, but nevertheless they stand tall, serving as a beacon of hope, a point of great pride and a reflection of who we are.

So when I think about the state of our state, I'm brought back to our purple mountain majesties.

The state of our state, just like the people of Colorado, is strong, it is steadfast, and in spite of everything, we are boldly moving forward.

God bless you all, God bless our Colorado, and God bless the United States of America.

On request of President Garcia, the Joint Committee escorted the Governor from the Chamber.

On motion of Representative Esgar, the Governor's message was ordered printed in the House Journal.

On motion of Senator Fenberg, the Joint Session was dissolved.

EXECUTIVE ORDER Full and Unconditional Pardon  Convictions for Possession of Two Ounces or Less of Marijuana

Pursuant to the authority vested in the Governor of the State of Colorado by Article IV, Section 7 of the Colorado Constitution and C.R.S. § 16-17-102(2), I, Jared Polis, Governor of the State of Colorado, issue this Executive Order granting full and unconditional pardons for convictions for possession of two (2) ounces or less of marijuana in the State of Colorado.

I. Background

On November 6, 2012, Coloradans passed Amendment 64, a State constitutional amendment initiated by the people of Colorado that legalized consumption or possession of limited amounts of marijuana for those twenty-one (21) years of age or older in the State of Colorado. Article XVIII, Section 16 became part of the Colorado Constitution on December 10, 2012, and legalized possessing, using, displaying, purchasing, or transporting marijuana accessories for one (1) ounce or less of marijuana.

On June 29, 2020, I signed the bipartisan House Bill 20-1424 ("HB 20-1424"), Social Equity Licensees in Regulated Marijuana. HB 20-1424 amends C.R.S. § 16-17-102 to allow the Governor to grant pardons to a class of defendants who were convicted of the possession of up to two (2) ounces of marijuana.

On October 4, 2020, I granted full and unconditional pardons to individuals convicted of possession of one (1) ounce or less of marijuana in the State of Colorado as detailed in Executive Order C 2020 004. My decision to pardon these individuals was a reflection of the law in Colorado at the time that permitted possession of one (1) ounce or less of marijuana. On May 20, 2021, I signed House Bill 21-1090 ("HB 21-1090"), which doubled Colorado's recreational marijuana possession limit to two (2) ounces of marijuana for adults twenty-one (21) and older.

Through this Executive Order, I am granting pardons for State convictions of possession of two (2) ounces or less of marijuana because possession of two (2) ounces or less of marijuana is no longer illegal in Colorado and it should not be held against people since it is not a crime.

Unfortunately, many convictions of possession of two (2) ounces or less of marijuana are municipal convictions. This Executive Order only applies to State convictions. Individuals with municipal convictions should seek a remedy on the municipal level. I also urge municipal governments to adopt similar measures, if possible, to help individuals in line with this Executive Order.

Through this Executive Order, I grant full and unconditional pardons to a class of defendants who were convicted of the possession of up to two (2) ounces of marijuana in the State of Colorado, subject to the grant of clemency below.

II. Grant of Clemency

A. All convictions in the State of Colorado of a petty offense, misdemeanor, or felony for possession of two (2) ounces or less of marijuana under the following statutory provisions or other relevant Colorado state statutory provisions are hereby granted a full and unconditional pardon. This Executive Order only applies to convictions of two (2) ounces or less of marijuana under state law and no other charges or convictions are pardoned by this Executive Order.

All civil disabilities and public sufferings associated with the pardoned conviction are removed. I direct the Department of Public Safety, through the Colorado Bureau of Investigation, to develop a process to indicate on criminal background checks which individuals' convictions have been pardoned pursuant to this Executive Order.

GIVEN under my hand and the Executive Seal of the State of Colorado, this thirtieth day of December 2021.

(b) The early care and education sector is comprised almost exclusively of women, forty percent of whom are people of color, and failure to invest in this profession undermines the economic opportunity of early educators and their ability to support the education of the children in their classroom;
(c) These educators represent the most racially diverse sector of the teaching workforce, compared to kindergarten through twelfth grade and postsecondary education, but early educators are among the lowest-paid professionals in every state, including Colorado;
(d) On average, early childhood educators earn less than half of the salary of kindergarten teachers and over one-third report receiving subsidies from public assistance programs to make ends meet;
(e) Low pay and instability in the early childhood sector contribute to high turnover rates with half of all early childhood education professionals changing jobs within three years;
(f) The COVID-19 pandemic has exacerbated the challenges facing the recruitment, retention, and professional development of the early childhood workforce at a time when the need for access to early care and education is acute for working families, and women in particular, to be able to enter the workforce; and
(g) Investments in the early care and education workforce have a significant return on investment with every dollar invested in the early care and education sector resulting in two dollars and twenty-seven cents in output in the state economy and every job created in the early care and education sector resulting in an additional nearly one and one-half new jobs in the state economy.
(2) Now, therefore, the general assembly declares that supporting the early childhood workforce with a targeted tax credit can support stability in the industry and, in turn, support working families, child development, and economic growth.".

"SECTION 1. Legislative declaration. (1) The general assembly hereby finds and declares that:
(a) In recent years, the role of destination marketing and management organizations in Colorado has evolved to not only support economic growth through tourism, but also to address the social, cultural, and environmental issues related to tourism. In addition to inspiring travel to and within a destination and enhancing a visitor's experience, destination marketing and management organizations now use their expertise to protect our destinations' cultural and natural assets and improve our residents' quality of life. For example, the Colorado tourism office has embedded destination stewardship and sustainable travel principles into its strategic plans, annual campaigns, and key programming.
(b) Destination marketing and management organizations across the state are increasingly using their marketing budgets and robust communication channels to disperse travelers and educate visitors on how to travel responsibly and lessen their impact. With values-based marketing campaigns and educational programs like the Colorado tourism office's "Care for Colorado" and "Do Colorado Right", these organizations are well-positioned to deliver messages that encourage the positive change our communities ask all visitors--local, domestic, and international--to adopt while in Colorado.
(c) The strides and responsive nature of this marketing approach play a key role in ensuring that visitors responsibly enjoy their stays in the state. A visitor's experience is also heavily influenced by the host community's ability to support their residents and local workforce with housing and other essential services, as well as a strong quality of life that comes with our amazing natural and cultural assets. A thriving community ensures more positive visitor interactions and experiences in our restaurants, on our trails, and throughout our main streets. This, in turn, increases the likelihood that a visitor will return and continue to support our local businesses. Robust support for our residents' needs is essential to the long-term health of both our communities and our economy.".

"(IV) THE STATE'S ABILITY TO HONOR ITS RESPONSIBILITIES UNDER SECTION 2 OF ARTICLE IX OF THE STATE CONSTITUTION TO PROVIDE FOR THE ESTABLISHMENT AND MAINTENANCE OF A THOROUGH AND UNIFORM SYSTEM OF FREE PUBLIC SCHOOLS THROUGHOUT THE STATE IS IMPAIRED WHEN HOME RULE CITIES TAX PUBLIC SCHOOL CONSTRUCTION MATERIALS BECAUSE THIS TAX INCREASES THE COST OF PROVIDING PUBLIC EDUCATION WITHIN THE BOUNDARIES OF THESE MUNICIPALITIES AS CONTRASTED WITH PUBLIC SCHOOLS LOCATED WITHIN THE BOUNDARIES OF OTHER

MUNICIPALITIES THAT DO NOT TAX THESE MATERIALS;
(V) THE STATE'S RESPONSIBILITY TO PROVIDE A THOROUGH AND UNIFORM EDUCATION IS FURTHER IMPAIRED BY THE INCENTIVES CREATED BY THE CURRENT TAX DISPARITIES. SPECIFICALLY, INSOFAR AS SCHOOL DISTRICTS SERVE THE RESIDENTS OF MULTIPLE MUNICIPALITIES AND NOT ALL OF THE MUNICIPALITIES TAX PUBLIC SCHOOL CONSTRUCTION MATERIALS, SCHOOL DISTRICTS ARE GIVEN INCENTIVES TO BUILD SCHOOLS WITHIN THOSE MUNICIPALITIES WHERE THE SALES AND USE TAX IS NOT LEVIED, RATHER THAN WHERE THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS ARE MOST NEEDED, THEREBY DEPRIVING STUDENTS AND COMMUNITIES OF LOCAL EDUCATION RESOURCES.
(VI) EXtending The exemption to include home rule cities WOULD ELIMINATE THESE BARRIERS AND DISPARITIES AND ASSIST THE STATE IN HONORING ITS RESPONSIBILITIES UNDER SECTION 2 OF ARTICLE IX OF THE STATE CONSTITUTION;
(VII) THE CURRENT TAXING SYSTEM ALSO CREATES NEGATIVE EXTRATERRITORIAL IMPACTS BECAUSE TAXPAYERS THAT RESIDE IN SCHOOL DISTRICTS THAT SERVE BOTH TAXING AND NONTAXING MUNICIPALITIES MUST SUBSIDIZE THE COST OF THE SALES AND USE TAX LEVIED WHEN PUBLIC SCHOOLS ARE BUILT IN MUNICIPALITIES THAT TAX PUBLIC SCHOOL CONSTRUCTION MATERIALS, EVEN WHEN SUCH RESIDENTS DO NOT RESIDE IN THE TAXING MUNICIPALITY AND THEIR CHILDREN DO NOT ATTEND PUBLIC SCHOOLS IN THE TAXING MUNICIPALITY;".

"SECTION 1. Legislative declaration. (1) The general assembly finds and determines that:
(a) The department of regulatory agencies has considered the need for regulating community association managers (CAMs) through two sunrise reviews and one sunset review and has concluded, in each instance, that community association management companies should be regulated by the state, and in the sunrise reports, concluded that regulation of CAMs was necessary to protect the public;
(b) In response to the department's 2012 sunrise report, the general assembly enacted House Bill 13-1277, which established a regulatory scheme for CAMs that required all CAMs, whether individuals or business entities, to obtain a license through the division of real estate;
(c) In its 2017 sunset review of the regulation of CAMs, the department recommended continuing the regulation in order to gather additional, relevant information, but proposed legislation to continue the regulatory program failed in 2018 and 2019, and the regulation of CAMs ceased in 2019;
(d) Since the termination of CAM regulation, the department conducted a study and survey of the industry, homeowners, and other stakeholders and found that sixty-four percent of CAMs and eighty-two percent of homeowners favor regulation of CAMs to protect the public; and
(e) Thereafter, the department conducted another sunrise review and concluded that "minimal regulatory programs should be enacted to ensure that CAMs who commit acts such as theft are held accountable through regulatory oversight . . ." and while "regulation may not prevent thefts from occurring in the future, it would potentially prevent a practitioner from practicing again in Colorado."
(2) The general assembly therefore declares that the regulation of CAMs:
(a) Is important to protect the public, and in particular, homeowners, from financial harm and ensure businesses engaged in the practice of community association management and their employees and contractors have knowledge of applicable laws and are able to perform community association management activities in a manner that ensures homeowners are not financially harmed; and
(b) Must be accomplished in a manner that is least restrictive to the business of community association management, is efficient, and is cost-effective in order to avoid significant impacts and minimize burdens on both businesses and homeowners.".

"PART 9  FAMILY STRENGTHENING HOME VISITING PROGRAMS

26.5-3-901. Legislative declaration. (1) THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY FINDS AND DECLARES THAT:
(a) TRADITIONAL METHODS OF DELIVERING FAMILY-STRENGTHENING SERVICE PROGRAMS, WHICH OFTEN REQUIRE PARENTS AND THEIR CHILDREN TO TRAVEL TO A PROGRAM SITE TO ACCESS SERVICES DELIVERED SIMULTANEOUSLY TO MULTIPLE FAMILIES, OFTEN CREATE BARRIERS, SUCH AS LIMITED ACCESS TO TRANSPORTATION OR CREATION OF A STIGMA AROUND RECEIVING SERVICES, THAT PREVENT FAMILIES, ESPECIALLY LOW-INCOME FAMILIES, FROM RECEIVING THE BENEFITS OF THE SERVICES;
(b) Evidence demonstrates that voluntary, high-Quality, EVIDENCE-BASED PROGRAMS THAT DELIVER FAMILY-STRENGTHENING SUPPORT SERVICES HELP PARENTS AND OTHER CAREGIVERS DEVELOP THE SKILLS AND CONFIDENCE NEEDED TO PROMOTE THEIR CHILDREN'S HEALTHY DEVELOPMENT AND LEARNING;
(c) Home visiting is a service delivery strategy that is SUCCESSFULLY USED TO DELIVER A WIDE ARRAY OF HIGH-QUALITY, VOLUNTARY FAMILY-STRENGTHENING SUPPORT SERVICES AND THAT ENABLES FAMILIES TO OVERCOME BARRIERS TO ACCESS BECAUSE THE SERVICES ARE DELIVERED IN THE HOME OR OTHER CONVENIENT SETTINGS, WHICH ARE OFTEN SELECTED BY THE FAMILY;
(d) Home visiting is a Service delivery strategy that can be Leveraged to provide high-Quality, voluntary, FAMILY-STRENGTHENING SUPPORT SERVICES TO MORE COLORADO FAMILIES WHO HAVE FEWER RESOURCES AND ARE EXPOSED TO RISK FACTORS THAT MAY LEAD TO POOR OUTCOMES IN CHILD DEVELOPMENT.USING HOME VISITING TO PROVIDE THESE SERVICES RESULTS IN A STRONG RETURN ON INVESTMENT BY IMPROVING SCHOOL READINESS AND HELPING COLORADO'S CHILDREN REACH THEIR FULL POTENTIAL.
(e) FAMILY-STRENGTHENING SUPPORT SERVICES THAT ARE DELIVERED THROUGH HOME VISITING HAVE ALSO DEMONSTRATED IMPROVED FAMILY AND CHILD OUTCOMES BY PROMOTING SOLID PARENT-CHILD RELATIONSHIPS, IMPROVING CHILD AND PARENTAL SOCIAL-EMOTIONAL AND PHYSICAL HEALTH, IMPROVING FAMILY ECONOMIC SECURITY, IDENTIFYING DEVELOPMENTAL DELAYS EARLY, PROVIDING TIMELY CHILD WELFARE INTERVENTION SERVICES, AND

PREVENTING TRAUMA AND TOXIC STRESS.
(2) THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY FINDS, THEREFORE, THAT AUTHORIZING GRANT PROGRAMS TO SUPPORT HOME VISITING PROGRAMS THAT DELIVER HIGH-QUALITY, VOLUNTARY, FAMILY-STRENGTHENING SUPPORT SERVICES IS ONE OF THE BEST STRATEGIES AVAILABLE TO SUPPORT PARENTS AND OTHER CAREGIVERS IN PREPARING CHILDREN FOR future success and ensure all Colorado children are ready to LEARN WHEN THEY ARRIVE AT SCHOOL.
26.5-3-902. Definition. As USED IN THIS PART 9, unLESS THE CONTEXT OTHERWISE REQUIRES, "HOME VISITING" MEANS A TWO-GENERATION DELIVERY STRATEGY THAT IS DESIGNED TO OVERCOME BARRIERS TO ACCESSING SERVICES BY PROVIDING A COMPREHENSIVE ARRAY OF VOLUNTARY, EVIDENCE-BASED, FAMILY-STRENGTHENING SERVICES TO A FAMILY IN A LOCATION USUALLY SELECTED BY THE FAMILY THAT IS CONGRUENT WITH THE SERVICES BEING PROVIDED, WHICH LOCATION MAY INCLUDE, BUT NEED NOT BE LIMITED TO, THE FAMILY'S HOME, A HEALTH CARE SETTING, OR A FAMILY RESOURCE CENTER.

(c) Are delivered using a home visiting strategy to PROVIDE FAMILY SERVICES THAT IS BASED ON A NATIONAL MODEL FOR HOME VISITING SERVICES OR HAS BEEN OTHERWISE PROVEN EFFECTIVE IN OVERCOMING BARRIERS TO ACCESSING SERVICES;
(3) In IMPLEMENTING A FAMILY-STRENGTHENING GRANT PROGRAM PURSUANT TO THIS SECTION, THE DEPARTMENT SHALL CONTRACT WITH AN IMPLEMENTATION PARTNER. IF A GRANT PROGRAM IS BASED ON A NATIONAL MODEL FOR DELIVERING FAMILY-STRENGTHENING SERVICES, THE DEPARTMENT SHALL CONTRACT WITH A LOCAL PUBLIC OR PRIVATE ENTITY THAT IS CERTIFIED, OR OTHERWISE AUTHORIZED, TO LEAD IN IMPLEMENTING THE NATIONAL MODEL IN THE STATE, TO ACT AS THE Implementation partner. If a grant program is not based on a NATIONAL MODEL, THE DEPARTMENT SHALL ISSUE A REQUEST FOR

25-23-101. Legislative declaration. (1) THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY HEREBY FINDS AND DECLARES THAT:
(a) As Resolved in the 2000 Legislative session, Children's ORAL HEALTH REMAINS A PRIORITY FOR HEALTH EQUITY IN COLORADO;
(b) ORAL HEALTH EQUITY FOR CHILDREN CAN BE ADVANCED BY IMPROVED ACCESS TO CARE, BUT ALSO THROUGH EVIDENCED-BASED PREVENTION ACTIVITIES;
(c) DENTISTS AND DENTAL HYGIENISTS ARE CRITICAL PARTNERS IN ADDRESSING THE ORAL HEALTH-CARE NEEDS OF CHILDREN AND UNDERSERVED COLORADANS IN RURAL AND LOW-INCOME COMMUNITIES;
(d) However, Colorado communities often encounter DIFFICULTY RECRUITING AND RETAINING DENTAL PROFESSIONALS TO SERVE THESE COMMUNITIES;
(e) MANY DENTAL HEALTH PROFESSIONALS, PARTICULARLY DENTISTS, GRADUATE WITH LARGE EDUCATION LOANS NEEDED TO FINANCE THEIR PROFESSIONAL EDUCATION;
(f) Further, DENTAL CARE IS PROVIDED PREDOMINANTLY THROUGH INDIVIDUAL AND SMALL GROUP PRACTICES, WHICH CAN LIMIT THE OPPORTUNITY FOR DENTAL HEALTH PROFESSIONALS TO PROVIDE A SUBSTANTIAL VOLUME OF ORAL HEATH SERVICES AT REDUCED COST WHILE STILL MAINTAINING REVENUES NECESSARY TO SUPPORT THE FIXED COSTS OF OPERATING A DENTAL PRACTICE;
(g) WHEN Partnered with the state, dental health PROFESSIONALS PROVIDE ACCESS TO ORAL CARE FOR PEOPLE IN NEED OF SERVICES, AND REDUCING THE EDUCATION LOAN DEBT OF THESE PROFESSIONALS ENSURES THEY HAVE MORE RESOURCES TO CARE FOR UNDERSERVED CHILDREN AND COMMUNITIES; AND
(2) THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY FURTHER FINDS AND DECLARES THAT Colorado will continue its commitment to provide support to DENTAL HEALTH PROFESSIONALS WHO REQUEST EDUCATION LOAN REPAYMENT AND TO ALSO USE FUNDS TO SUPPORT CHILDREN'S ORAL HEALTH THROUGH COMMUNITY PUBLIC HEALTH INTERVENTIONS.".

In that clinical trial, two out of three study participants were no longer considered to have a PTSD diagnosis after treatment and eighty-eight percent experienced a clinically significant reduction in symptoms.

The Honorable Colorado General Assembly
The 73rd General Assembly
Second Regular Session
State Capitol
200 E. Colfax Ave.
Denver, CO 80203

Dear Honorable Members of the Colorado General Assembly:
Today I signed into law House Bill 22-1279, "Reproductive Health Equity Act." House Bill 22-1279 which (HB 22-1279) codifies a person's fundamental right to make reproductive health-care decisions free from government interference. In the State of Colorado, the serious decision to start or end a pregnancy with medical assistance will remain between a person, their doctor, and their faith. I want to thank the sponsors and the General Assembly for ensuring that regardless of what happens federally, in Colorado these vital and oftentimes difficult decisions will continue to be made by Coloradans alone, free from government interference.

This important bill simply codifies existing protections in statute. The bill does not make any changes to the current legal framework for parental notification that exists in state law. This bill will also prevent any person from being forced to end or continue a pregnancy, and ensure that no one is forced to perform or have an abortion against their will or conscience. Such is already the case in Colorado today. This bill simply maintains this status quo regardless of what happens at the federal level and preserves all existing constitutional rights and obligations.

As the federal legal landscape surrounding reproductive health care evolves, Colorado can now thankfully continue to assure individuals that their intimate right to choose how and whether to proceed with family planning and pregnancy is protected at the state level.

Again, I thank the sponsors and proponents for passing HB 22-1279. The Reproductive Health Equity Act will preserve Coloradans' right to choose how to utilize reproductive health care services by codifying existing protections into state law.

Sincerely,
/signed/
Jared Polis
Governor
State of Colorado
