Summary of Legislation

The bill requires state, city, and county government entities to work with the Office of Information Technology (OIT) and share information about their electronic document filing capacity. OIT must file this information in a report to the Joint Technology Committee by October 15, 2021. For each entity, the report must include information about:

- the proportion of required and allowable documents that are currently capable of electronic delivery;
- the actions and costs that would be required to allow at least 80 percent of these documents to be filed electronically;
- any obstacles that might prevent 80 percent of documents from being filed electronically; and,
- additional information or considerations that would affect an increase in electronic filing capacity.

The bill applies to each principal department of the state and each county, including any agency, board or division therein.

State Expenditures

For FY 2021-22, the bill increases workload for each state agency to gather and provide information about its electronic document filing capacity. The bill also requires OIT to collect this information and file it in a report with the Joint Technology Committee. This workload can be accomplished within existing appropriations.

Local Government

For FY 2021-22, the bill will increase workload for city and county governments to gather and provide information about their electronic document filing capacity to OIT. These costs will vary by jurisdiction and have not been estimated for this fiscal note. Overall, the impact for most local governments is assumed to be minimal.

Effective Date

The bill was signed into law by the Governor on June 7, 2021, and takes effect on September 7, 2021, assuming no referendum petition is filed.
