- the person for committing specified unlawful acts; and

Additionally, the bill specifies the documentation the licensee must maintain for any extension of credit and requires the licensee to inform every person to whom credit is extended, orally and in writing, that the financial obligations created must be fully paid to the licensee within 150 days.

The bill prohibits licensees from reducing their gaming tax burden through deducting unpaid credit from their gross proceeds.

The bill allows licensees to pursue all remedies at law to recover unpaid credit, as well as interest and reasonable recovery costs. Additionally, the bill restricts licensees from settling or compromising the amount to be repaid until specific conditions are met.

Finally, the bill outlines record-keeping requirements for licensees that extend credit.
