Jeremy Schupbach, Colorado Bar Association
Erin Goff, Axiom Strategies

OLLS explained the purpose of the Title 12 Recodification Study referred to discussion of the articles listed above, and asked for suggestions for relocating those articles.

Article 5—Attorneys-at-law

OLLS suggested moving the article as a new article in Title 13 or repealing the article if all of the provisions are currently covered by court rules. Jeremy Schupbach questioned whether a repeal was within the purview of the recodification. OLLS responded that a complete repeal was, but OLLS would be concerned about repealing some provisions and relocating others. Terry Scanlan stated that he thought the judicial branch would favor a repeal, but would discuss it with the appropriate personnel and provide additional feedback.

Article 66—Wholesale Sales Representatives

OLLS suggested moving the article to Title 13. OLLS explained that the article gave Colorado courts personal jurisdiction over cases involving out-of-state wholesale sales representatives doing business in Colorado and provided for damages in those cases.
